Ruby and the Doctor

Millie Gibson plays Ruby Sunday

Dawn of the Doctor

Ncuti Gatwa takes over the TARDIS as the 15th Doctor makes his debut in a thrilling Christmas Day adventure

NEW SCI-FI

Doctor Who

Christmas Day, 5.55pm, BBC1

Ever since Ncuti Gatwa was announced as the latest actor to portray the Doctor in May 2022, viewers have been eagerly anticipating his arrival. Now, the wait is finally over as the 15th Doctor embarks on his first adventure in this year's Doctor Who Christmas special, titled The Church on Ruby Road.

The festive episode also introduces us to the Doctor's new companion Ruby Sunday (Millie Gibson), who was abandoned as a baby on a church doorstep in the snow 18 years ago.

'That baby is now Ruby Sunday,' explains showrunner Russell T. Davies. 'She's been adopted into a lovely family, but it's time for Ruby to start investigating her history. There's a Time Lord about to burst into her life, while Ruby is strangely being followed by bad luck everywhere she goes – but why?'

As TV&Satellite Week meets Davies, Gatwa and Gibson in a London hotel to talk about the exciting episode, which also features appearances from Davina McCall and Anita Dobson, the enormity of it is still sinking in.

BIG RESPONSIBILITY

'It won't be real until the show actually airs,' smiles Gatwa. 'In my head, I am still not the Doctor – it's like an amazing dream. But this Doctor is very human, quite emotional and a bit of a joker.'

Starring in a show that's beloved by audiences all over the world is familiar territory for Gatwa, whose breakthrough role came in 2019 as Sex Education's Eric Effiong. But portraying the Doctor comes with a 60-year legacy that Gatwa doesn't take lightly.

'I've been part of large projects in the past, but this is different because it sits so deeply in the heart of the British public,' explains the star. 'You know how much it means to people – it's like we've been passed a baton.'

As always, the Time Lord's relationship with his companion is crucial, and Gibson reckons fans will love the chemistry between the Doctor and Ruby.

'They are like two schoolgirls gossiping and plotting!' explains Gibson, 19, who played Kelly Neelan in Coronation Street. 'Their dynamic is very platonic, and you see how much they care for one another from the beginning.'

For fashion-loving Gatwa, one of the joys of playing the Doctor was the chance to help choose the character's dapper new look.

'In my first meeting with the producers, I had quite a traditional costume idea,' recalls the 31-year-old. 'They told me it was boring and wanted me to go wild – and I was like, "Wow, you picked the right person for that!" Pam Downe, our costume designer, and I wanted to go on a bit of a journey through British culture. Because it's a quintessential British show, we can explore this Doctor through fashion a little bit.'

FAN FAVOURITE

Although Doctor Who specials are a staple of Christmas viewing, The Church on Ruby Road will be the first to actually air on Christmas Day since 2017, and Gibson admits to feeling nervous at the prospect.

'A lot of people will be watching, and that's terrifying,' she says. 'Even people who don't watch Doctor Who are going to put it on because it's Christmas Day. I'm just hoping viewers will be very jolly on Prosecco when they're watching!'

Anita Dobson joins the cast as Mrs Flood

GOBLIN MODE

It's not long before the 15th Doctor encounters his first deadly enemy when he and Ruby square off against the mysterious Goblin King – and Millie Gibson was excited about coming face to face with a Doctor Who monster for the first time.

'What's so beautiful about Doctor Who is that the monsters are hardly ever CGI,' she says. 'They make these monsters, and you can really see them and actually act with them. That's really cool. I warmed to the Goblin King towards the end of the episode. I found him cute!'

NEW HORROR

Lot No. 249

Christmas Eve, 10pm, BBC2

A spine-chilling tale of terror has become a staple of the TV schedules at Christmas and this year's offering has all the qualities needed for edge-of-the-seat thrills. Lot No. 249 is a short horror story by Arthur Conan Doyle, adapted by Sherlock's Mark Gatiss and starring Game of Thrones' Kit Harington and Slow Horses' Freddie Fox.

It revolves around three very different young academics at Oxford in 1881 – the unworldly Monkhouse Lee (Colin Ryan), manly Abercrombie Smith (Harington) and a strange and exotic scholar of Eastern languages, Edward Bellingham (Fox).

Edward is the talk of the campus because of his obsession with reviving the dead, in particular an Egyptian mummy he purchased at auction – lot no. 249 – which he intends to bring back to life.

'It's fruity, it's frightening and it's fun,' says Fox, 34, of the 30-minute drama. 'It lived up to my expectations of what a Mark Gatiss Christmas horror would be. He gives it twinkle and flair as well as the chills you want.'

Colin Ryan, Kit Harington and Freddie Fox

EERIE EVENTS

One night, Abercrombie is awakened by Monkhouse, terrified that Edward is dead. In fact, he has only fainted while working on the mummy, but Abercrombie makes it clear he is not impressed with all the Ancient Egyptian paraphernalia Edward has in his room.

Worse is to follow – a fellow student, who had fallen out with Edward, is almost strangled to death by something not quite human while sitting under a tree one evening.

A clearly rattled Monkhouse tells Abercrombie he doesn't believe Edward is safe to be around. Not long afterwards, Monkhouse is thrown into the river and nearly drowns. Is Edward using the mummy as an instrument of revenge on those who have slighted or rejected him?

'I think there is an implicit sexual relationship between Edward and Monkhouse – one that is dominant on Edward's side and controlling,' reveals Fox, who is full of praise for James Swanton as the mummy.

'James was lying or standing there for hours and never complained. The set was full of wasps and hornets because there was a nest nearby, but it didn't faze him at all!'

Man of mystery

A diplomat is embroiled in a spate of baffling murders in an Agatha Christie whodunnit

NEW DRAMA

Murder Is Easy

Wed 27 Dec & Thu 28 Dec, 9pm, BBC1 (box set, BBC iPlayer)

A chance encounter on a train leads to a tale of murderous secrets in BBC1's 1950s-set adaptation of Agatha Christie's whodunnit Murder Is Easy.

The story follows Nigerian attaché Luke Fitzwilliam (Industry star David Jonsson), who's on his way to start a senior Whitehall job when he learns of a series of murders in the quaint English village of Wychwood under Ashe from fellow train passenger Miss Pinkerton (Dame Penelope Wilton).

The bizarre deaths have been dismissed as accidents by the police and villagers alike, but Miss Pinkerton is confident there's a serial killer on the loose – and when she's later mown down by a car on her way to Scotland Yard, Luke finds himself heading to the sleepy village to solve the mystery.

'I don't think it's what he budgeted for, but duty calls,' says Jonsson. 'Out of a certain moral compass, he's forced into action, and he starts following Miss Pinkerton's trail to catch the murderer.

'It's action-packed, full of wit and humour and all the things we love from a British thriller. But there are plenty of red herrings. You're looking at one thing that actually means something else, and I think people are going to struggle to guess the killer… or killers.'

HUMOUR AND MENACE

The original story was published in 1939, and previously brought to TV in 2009 as a Miss Marple mystery starring Julia McKenzie, while this new version is set in 1954.

'It was wonderful to be in the 1950s,' smiles Jonsson, who filmed the two-part thriller in Scotland. 'I just wish that was how I dressed in my everyday life.'

Among the suspects are Ghosts' Mathew Baynton, who plays cool-as-a-cucumber Dr Thomas, Mark Bonnar as the affable Reverend Humbleby, and The Nevers' Tom Riley as pompous Lord Whitfield. The cast also includes Shetland's Douglas Henshall and a virtually unrecognisable Tamzin Outhwaite as village stalwart Mrs Pierce.

Meanwhile, as the body count piles high, long-held grudges are revealed and a love twist shocks everyone involved. Can Luke unmask the killer?

'It's a wonderful whodunnit,' says Downton Abbey and After Life star Wilton, 77. 'It has a lot of humour in it, but a great deal of menace as well. The story has been brought

DEADLY secrets

Aiden and Vera tackle their last case together

NEW CRIME DRAMA

Vera

Boxing Day, 8pm, ITV1

DCI Vera Stanhope (Brenda Blethyn) is forced to abandon her festive plans to solve a midwinter murder when the popular Northumberland-set crime drama returns to ITV1 for its first-ever Christmas special.

The story begins with Vera and her team organising a Secret Santa and looking forward to a well-earned break. That's until they're called to Holy Island to investigate the bizarre death of scandal-hit TV star Rick Kelsall in a staged suicide.

'It turns out the dead man was with a group of friends who first visited Holy Island in 1977 and they've been returning ever since,' says Blethyn, 77. 'Vera is intrigued by them and finally concludes that the death is a murder.'

Luke (David Jonsson, centre) and the villagers of Wychwood under Ashe up to date – not in period, but in attitude – while it's still got all the things that Agatha Christie is well known for.

PRIVILEGED PART

'There are enormous emotions going on – love, envy, all sorts of things. Agatha Christie taps into people in a very English way. They're keeping all these emotions to themselves, until it sort of bursts forth in this rather aggressive way. I think viewers will find it engaging.'

Meanwhile, Jonsson says his mum can't wait to watch him take centre stage in the TV schedules.

'This is the most excited she's been about a job of mine ever,' he smiles. 'Agatha Christie thrillers mean more than just regular murder mysteries. They're a British institution – they bring people together and encompass a lot of what it means to be British. So having a Black hero felt fresh and exciting to me, and I feel incredibly privileged to be a part of it.'

The team investigates

With Rick's old school friends all under suspicion, the whodunnit takes a darker turn when there's a second death, forcing Vera to put herself at risk of serious harm to unravel long-held grudges.

'She puts herself in danger. But she isn't afraid of that because she knows if she confronts someone on her own, she's more likely to get a confession,' explains Blethyn, who will be tuning into the episode along with millions of fans.

'I'll be watching the episode over Christmas with my husband – although he gets annoyed if I tell him anything beforehand, so I won't say a word!'

As usual, expect a surprise twist and guest stars, including Lewis' Clare Holman, while the episode also serves as a farewell to Kenny Doughty, who joined the show in 2015 to play Vera's right-hand man, DS Aiden Healy.

'We've filmed eight series together and I've never laughed so hard,' says Blethyn. 'I'll miss him.'

Caribbean Christmas

Doon Mackichan visits Saint Marie as Neville's fun-loving mum

NEW CRIME DRAMA

Death in Paradise

Boxing Day, 9pm, BBC1

It's another busy Christmas in Saint Marie for DI Neville Parker (Ralf Little). Not only does he have another murder to solve, but his mum Melanie (Two Doors Down's Doon Mackichan) is coming to visit.

Neville's been feeling low since his relationship with girlfriend Sophie (Chelsea Edge) turned out to be a sham that she'd concocted in order to frame him for murder. So will some quality time with his mum be just what Neville needs to lift his spirits again?

FEMALE BONDING

'I'm a massive fan of Doon's from way back, so I was delighted when they told me she was coming in to play my mum,' says Little, 43. 'Melanie is the exact opposite of what you'd expect from Neville's mum – she's really fun-loving and free-spirited.'

Melanie's determined to make the most of her time in Saint Marie. As well as embarking on a mission to cheer up her son, she's quick to befriend local mayor and bar owner Catherine (Élizabeth Bourgine).

'Catherine has been waiting for a long time to meet Melanie,' says Bourgine, 66. 'Catherine has organised a Christmas carnival and found dates for both of them. They have drinks, go dancing and have fun. They're two women with the same energy, so they get along very well.'

SUSPICIOUS MINDS

Elsewhere on the island, entrepreneur Gerry Stableforth (Geoff Bell) and his wife Bella (Patsy Kensit) have invited employee Debbie (Bronagh Waugh) to join them in the Caribbean for Christmas. But Neville and his team are called in to investigate when Gerry is found dead, and then key witness Debbie goes missing...

This is Death in Paradise's third Christmas special, and the cast look forward to making the festive episode every year – even if it feels strange to be filming it in the Caribbean during the summer.

'When we film the episode, it's always bright sunshine,' smiles Little. 'But it's also the first episode we film of the new series, so there's always a real buzz. Everyone's excited to see each other again because we love what we do.'

NEW DRAMA

Call the Midwife

Christmas Day, 8.15pm, BBC1

It's Christmas 1968 and snow is falling as the nuns and midwives of Nonnatus House face another busy yuletide in the festive special of Call the Midwife.

The episode is set against the backdrop of Apollo 8 orbiting the moon as space fever hits Poplar. But the caring medical team have much to occupy them as they treat two anxious mums-to-be. As ever, things don't go quite to plan…

BABIES ON THE WAY

'A new medication for fertility brings with it one mother who is expecting twins as a result, which is wonderful,' says Jenny Agutter, who plays stalwart head nun Sister Julienne. 'But the birth happens rather dramatically – there is a lot of snow and we are stuck in an ambulance.'

Elsewhere, caring council worker Cyril (Zephryn Taitte) and GP Dr Turner (Stephen McGann) offer support to troubled war veteran Mr Sharma (Goodness Gracious Me's Kulvinder Ghir), who is reluctant to leave his dilapidated home and who also has some worrying medical issues.

Thankfully, with the medics rushed off their feet, stylish nurse Trixie (Helen George) is back from honeymoon with husband Matthew (Olly Rix) and can lend a hand. But the newly-weds are given a surprise when Trixie's osteopath brother Geoffrey (Christopher Harper) unexpectedly returns and asks to stay with them for the festive season.

'It's their first Christmas together as a married couple with Jonty [Matthew's toddler son from his first marriage], so it's a special time – and then Geoffrey comes back,' says George, 39.

Toby Jones stars in the true story of the Post Office scandal

NEW DRAMA

Mr Bates Vs the Post Office

New Year's Day-Thursday 4 January, 9pm, ITV1 (box set, ITVX)

Seeking justice for the victims

Monica Dolan as a sub-postmistress

One of the biggest miscarriages of justice in British legal history is at the heart of a compelling true-story drama starring Toby Jones and Julie Hesmondhalgh.

Shown over four consecutive nights, Mr Bates Vs the Post Office explores how a faulty computer system led to innocent sub-postmasters being wrongly accused of theft, fraud and false accounting between 2000 and 2015. More than 700 were wrongly prosecuted, several went to prison, community as a whole embraces Geoffrey and his exuberance.'

Geoffrey certainly comes in useful by helping out when Nonnatus House lays on a treat to cheer up ageing nun Sister Monica Joan (Judy Parfitt), who's convinced this Christmas will be her last.

'In winter, a lot of older people feel that they are not going to make it through and Sister Monica Joan is feeling very low, but it's a matter of everybody pulling together,' shares Agutter, who turns 71 on 20 December.

'The community becomes important as they try to make an idea work. It is something unexpected and builds to an extraordinary end, which I won't give away, but it's about hope and love and enjoyment.

'It's lovely and very special with a magical sense of Christmas.'

Protesting their innocence

while others lost their livelihoods, homes and more.

But in 2009, sub-postmaster Alan Bates (Jones) united his colleagues to launch a campaign for justice, leading to a landmark Court of Appeal decision to overturn convictions.

Here, Jones, 57, tells us more...

Did you know about this scandal before being cast? I'm ashamed to say, I hadn't understood the severity of the story, but it's shocking, and this is an urgent piece of drama.

Did you speak to the real Alan Bates? Yes, and I tried to work out what drove him on. A crisis throws up opportunities for heroism, and Alan Bates is a proper hero.

How did the Post Office handle the situation? There's this corporate culture that seems to have evolved that runs on fear, and people not taking responsibility.

Is the story still ongoing? Alan is still trying to get compensation for families who've suffered but the scheme closes in August 2024, so action must take place now. Viewers will see a vindictiveness to this scandal that makes you wonder why it isn't being spoken about more.

Elliot and Helen find trouble in Ireland

Passport to danger

The Tourist's Jamie Dornan is on the run in Ireland

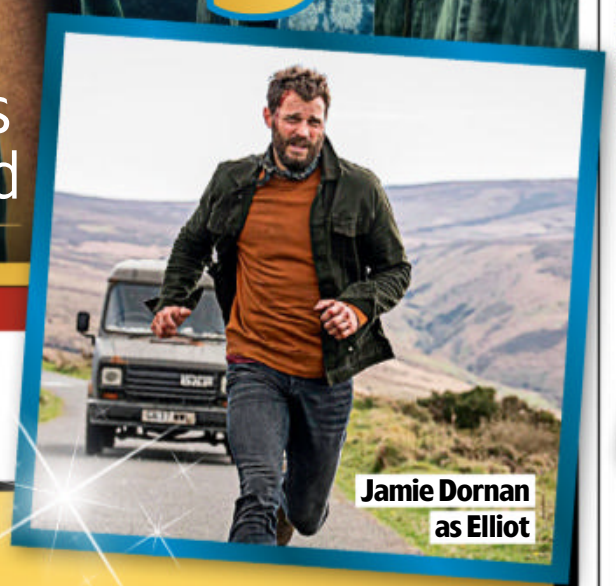
NEW DRAMA

The Tourist

New Year's Day & Tue 2 Jan, 9pm, BBC1 (box set, iPlayer)



Jamie Dornan as Elliot

Written by Jack and Harry Williams, the first run of BBC1's The Tourist was the most-watched drama of 2022. It saw Irishman Elliot Stanley (Jamie Dornan) losing his memory in a car crash before being pursued across the Australian outback by mysterious men determined to kill him.

With the help of local cop Helen Chambers (Danielle Macdonald), he managed to escape but was shocked to discover he'd been part of a ruthless drug-smuggling operation before his accident.

OLD SINS

As the second season begins, Elliot and Helen are now an item and heading to his native Ireland to find out more about his roots. However, Elliot is kidnapped by a local crime family, who want to exact their revenge upon him for a past misdemeanour…

'A lot of stuff was revealed about Elliot at the end of the last season. The guilt is what drives him to discover more about himself,' says Dornan, 41. 'A large part of why the first season worked was the relationship between Elliot and Helen. There's a believability to the bond that grew between them and we carry that through and make it one of the centrepieces of this season.'

Meanwhile, as Detective Ruairi Slater (Conor MacNeill) begins investigating Elliot's disappearance, he gets caught up in the crossfire between the crime family and Elliot's mother, Niamh (Olwen Fouéré).

'Taking the story to Ireland makes it feel like a different show,' says Dornan. 'But it's similar to the first season in the way that, just when viewers start to get comfortable, something nuts happens that knocks everything sideways. Some really mad stuff happens this season!'

Iwan Rheon stars in the story of the Viagra trial that ended misery for millions of men

NEW DRAMA

Men Up

Friday 29 December, 9pm, BBC1

Known as the 'little blue pill', the impotence drug Viagra has revolutionised men's health around the world. But what may come as a surprise to many is that back in 1994, years before it came on the market, the drug underwent its first clinical trials at Swansea's Morriston Hospital.

Feature-length drama Men Up follows five fictionalised middle-aged men who are each struggling with erectile dysfunction due to diabetes and who bravely agree to take part in the trial, hoping it might put their lives and relationships back on track.

Game of Thrones and Wolf actor Iwan Rheon stars as family man Meurig Jenkins, who, at 41, has just been diagnosed with diabetes. He's experiencing impotency, which is threatening to tear apart his marriage to childhood sweetheart Ffion (played by Rheon's The Light in the Hall co-star Alexandra Roach), who has had health struggles of her own.

DIFFICULTIES

'Up until this point, Meurig and Ffion are living quite an idyllic, 2.4-children life,' says Rheon, 38.

'But their whole world gets turned upside down. Meurig is not able to express the problems he's been having with impotency. He wants to rekindle the romance of their relationship but it's become a vicious circle in which neither is talking and they both think it's the other person's fault.'

Feeling emasculated, Meurig is willing to try anything to revive the intimacy between them. So he can't believe his luck when pioneering Dr Dylan Pearce (The Pact's Aneurin Barnard) and compassionate clinical nurse Moira Davies (Gavin & Stacey star Joanna Page) tell him about the trial.

'He can't quite get his head around it,' explains Rheon. 'The fact that just taking a pill could deal with everything… it's quite amazing to him.'

Meurig's joined on the project by some fellow diabetics: construction worker Eddie (Mark Lewis Jones); Tommy (Paul Rhys), a gay man who must lie about his sexuality to be admitted on the trial; and Peetham (Phaldut Sharma), whose marriage has lost its spark. There's also widower Colin (Steffan Rhodri), whose impotency is stopping him from finding another relationship.

Sadly, the drug doesn't work for everyone, but as the trials progress, the five men start to find unlikely confidants in one another.

'The moment the characters express their feelings and talk, everything changes for them,' explains Rheon. 'The drama shows that if you are lonely, you should reach out.'

Santa baby!

Mike and Alison welcome a new arrival as the Button House phantoms bid a festive farewell

NEW COMEDY

Ghosts

Christmas Day, 7.45pm, BBC1

TV's favourite spooks are bowing out for good this Christmas in the last-ever episode of BBC1's acclaimed comedy Ghosts.

In a typically heartfelt and hilarious festive special, the residents of Button House, both living and dead, face enormous change when the stately home's owners Alison (Charlotte Ritchie) and Mike (Kiell Smith-Bynoe) welcome their first baby. It's an arrival that delights most of the phantoms, but also gives them pause for thought.

Sutara Gayle as Betty

Alison and Mike with their baby

NEW DYNAMIC

'The ghosts are like a family and they all have that dynamic with Alison and Mike, but when this child arrives, they realise, "Actually, that's the real family,"' says co-creator Laurence Rickard, 48, who also stars as caveman Robin and Tudor nobleman Humphrey.

'Some of them handle the situation worse than others. Kitty [the childish Georgian ghost played by Lolly Adefope] has always felt kinship with Alison and she's the baby of the gang, so there's definitely some jealousy.'

Adding complications is Mike's mum Betty (Sutara Gayle), who comes to stay at Button House to lend a hand – but her well-meant interference soon grates on both the new parents and the ghosts. As Christmas nears, Betty suspects the house may be haunted and makes a big decision that could affect the spirits' future…

'Betty's arrival causes a burst of opinion from all the ghosts,' says fellow co-creator Jim Howick, 44, who plays 1980s Scoutmaster Pat. 'There's friction and a chain reaction.'

UNCERTAIN FUTURE

As events reach a climax, lives – and afterlives – will never be the same again, and the creators admit they felt pressure to deliver a perfect send-off for the show.

Mrs Brown's Boys Christmas Special

Christmas Day, 10.45pm, BBC1

Mrs Brown's Boys New Year Special

New Year's Day, 10pm, BBC1

There's a distinct chill in the air when Agnes Brown and her chaotic clan gather together for Christmas in the first of Mrs Brown's Boys two specials.

Entitled Mammy's Mare, the episode finds the sweary matriarch – played by the show's creator Brendan O'Carroll – struggling with the season of goodwill when daughter Cathy (O'Carroll's wife Jennifer Gibney) takes over Christmas-dinner duties.

'Everybody who watches Mrs Brown's Boys knows that Agnes is a complete control freak,' says O'Carroll, as he video-calls TV&Satellite Week from his home in Florida. 'It's amazing to see Agnes surrender as Cathy drags Christmas into the 21st century. But the dinner reveal is magnificent and decision to end the show. There is definitely going to be a degree of melancholy. It should feel like a wrench,' shares Rickard.

'It will be emotional – that's unavoidable when you're dealing with the last-ever episode,' adds Howick. 'We will miss it. When it came to the last shot we did, we kept improvising and carrying on, because we didn't want the director to say, "Cut!"'

The Captain, Julian, Thomas and Kitty

A festive feast for Mrs Brown and the gang

one of my favourite moments in the show.'

Other highlights include a missing rocking-horse ornament given to Agnes by her father when she was a child and the evergreen Christmas-tree gag. This year, it looks like the family's wheeler-dealer friend Buster (O'Carroll's son Danny O'Carroll) may fail to deliver when he accidentally orders the tree from Australia.

'Every year, I think, "Why did I ever start with this joke?"' laughs O'Carroll, 68. 'But we get lots of photos from people who've got spinning trees or turned mops into a Christmas tree, so it's nice to see viewers playing along.'

There's more craic in the second episode, entitled New Year, New Mammy, when the gang decide to get fit by forming 'The Blubber Club.'

'All I want is for people to sit and watch the show and laugh for half an hour,' reveals O'Carroll. 'When I was a kid, it wasn't Christmas until we watched Morecambe and Wise. The fact that Mrs Brown now has that slot is an honour.'

Claudia Winkleman is back in the castle as the reality show returns

O come, all ye Faithfuls!

NEW ENTERTAINMENT

The Traitors

Wed 3 Jan-Fri 5 Jan, 9pm, BBC1

After becoming last year's must-watch Christmas TV, The Traitors was lavished with awards and spawned Australian and American versions.

Now, it's back on BBC1 with 22 new contestants entering the famous Scottish Highlands castle for a highly anticipated second series, again hosted by Claudia Winkleman.

With £120,000 up for grabs, there's plenty of psychological gameplay, sneaky twists, double-crossing and some ultimate betrayals at the famous round table. Once again, if a Traitor remains undetected by the end of the show, they'll walk away with the entire prize, meaning the Faithfuls must unmask them without getting 'murdered' first.

Here, Winkleman, 51, tells us about the show's return…

Were you surprised by how popular the first series was? We really had no idea it would do so well – and when it did, we just couldn't believe it. It floored all of us and made us extremely happy. I also love the friendships that were created in a mad world of betrayal.

Are you excited to be back? So excited. I'm obviously terrified people won't like it as much as series one, but that's normal, right?

What can you tell us about this year's contestants? The cast this year is knockout. Having seen the first series, they're more quick to suspect. It definitely gave them some tips and you can see how some arrive and play the game immediately. But the game itself is so strong that however prepared you think you are, you're not.

Is there anything new to look out for? The armoury has gone and there's a kitchen now. Also, the missions this year are epic. It's so clever because they are a chance for the contestants to switch off from strategising and plotting. It definitely gets tense – there's one round table in this series when I came out shaking!

Do you root for the Traitors or the Faithfuls? I find myself backing both sides. I want the Faithfuls to catch a Traitor and I also want the Traitors to get away with it. In the end, I respect and admire gameplay – and there's a lot of that in this series.

> 'The game is so strong that however pepared you think you are, you're not'
> CLAUDIA WINKLEMAN

Did you enjoy returning to the Scottish castle? Where we film might just be the most beautiful place on Earth – the landscape is breathtaking. But also, the people are so welcoming. I got off the train and the lovely man who works at the station just casually said to me, 'I hope you've got your cloak!'

Tacy Kneale voices Mog

The miaow factor!

Miriam Margolyes, Benedict Cumberbatch and Claire Foy bring Judith Kerr's enchanting Christmas story to life

NEW ANIMATION

Mog's Christmas

Christmas Eve, 7.45pm, C4

The classic tale of a disgruntled cat who disrupts a family's festivities has entertained children for decades. Now, marking the 100th anniversary of author Judith Kerr's birth, her 1976 book Mog's Christmas is brought to life in a sparkling C4 adaptation.

The hand-drawn animated special is made by Lupus Films, the producers of 2019's The Tiger Who Came to Tea, and features Claire Foy, Benedict Cumberbatch and Miriam Margolyes among the star-studded voice cast.

ANIMAL ANTICS

The story follows Mog as she's feeling somewhat sidelined in the run-up to Christmas, with Mr and Mrs Thomas (Cumberbatch and Foy) busy decking the halls with their children Debbie and Nicky, while a jolly uncle (Charlie Higson) and two aunts (Margolyes and Maggie Steed) have also come to stay.

Then, when Mr Thomas brings home an enormous tree, a startled Mog clambers on to the roof and refuses to budge. Will she rejoin the family and make it a merry Christmas for all?

'Judith Kerr has the Charles Dickens touch – she invents a whole world and invites you to share it,' explains Call the Midwife star Margolyes, 82, who recently voiced alien The Meep in Doctor Who for its 60th anniversary episodes. 'Her characters feel real and

Tabby McTat

Christmas Day, 2.35pm, BBC1

Mog isn't the only festive feline entertaining us this Christmas. Animations based on author Julia Donaldson and illustrator Axel Scheffler's children's books have become a yuletide tradition, and this year's offering is narrated by former Doctor Who star Jodie Whittaker.

Produced by Magic Light Pictures, half-hour animation Tabby McTat follows a singing cat (voiced by Sopé Dìrísù) who loves to entertain passing crowds on the illustrations are superb. The animals are like people and Mog is a powerful personality.

Mog is a little put out by the festivities

Animation in progress at the Lupus Films studio

'I loved the challenge of voicing an aunt. I think all old ladies are a bit similar, but I made my aunt character rather more upper-class than I am and slightly more cantankerous!'

The Mog series of books was based on the Kerr family pet, and Kerr's daughter, Tacy Kneale, voices the cat's miaows and purrs, while Bridgerton star Adjoa Andoh narrates.

HEART AND SOUL

The film also features an original song, As Long as I Belong, which is performed by Sophie Ellis-Bextor.

'My eldest is going to be 20 next year and Mog has been part of our world since he was small,' says Ellis-Bextor, 44, who has five sons. 'All our kids love Mog, so when I told them I'd been asked to sing this song, they couldn't believe it.

'The song has a warm heart and I picture different generations on the sofa watching this film together. That's the essence of Christmas, isn't it?'

the streets of London with his talented busker friend, Fred (Rob Brydon).

But when a thief runs off with their hatful of coins and Fred gives chase, Tabby is left stranded – until a gorgeously glossy cat named Sock (Susan Wokoma) invites him into her home, where he's welcomed by owners Prunella (Cariad Lloyd) and Pat (Joanna Scanlan).

Tabby soon makes a new life for himself with Sock, even creating three cute kittens, but he still pines for Fred and sets out to find him. Will they be reunited?

'I watch these adaptations every Christmas, so I'm pinching myself that I get to narrate one,' says Whittaker, 41, who has two young children. 'I'm a fan of this story, too, because I've been reading it at bedtime for quite a while, so I've had a lot of practice!

'It deals with transitions from childhood to adulthood, loss and loneliness. But there's warmth and celebration of family, too.'

This is the 11th adaptation of Donaldson and Scheffler's books, but this story is particularly close to the author's heart.

'I've got two cats, called Tabitha and McTat, who were named after the story,' reveals Donaldson, 75.

'And my husband, Malcolm, and I have a long history of busking. Back when I was a student in Paris, we took the Champs-Élysées by storm!'

Rebecca Ferguson

Filmed over two and a half years, BBC2's magical series Wild Scandinavia is set to showcase the region like never before.

'The wild, deep, dangerous Scandinavian landscape was my playground growing up and you're about to see the beauty of it,' says Dune star Rebecca Ferguson, who narrates the three-part series.

State-of-the-art cameras capture the icy beauty of the Norwegian Arctic, Finnish forests and erupting Icelandic volcanoes, revealing the amazing survival stories of seal pups, puffins and reindeer – plus an intimate portrait of the people who live in this snowy wilderness.

'Doing this show has taken me back to my childhood,' says Sweden-born Ferguson, 40. 'I can't wait to share Scandinavia's beauty with viewers.'

Here, Ferguson and series producer Tuppence Stone share some of their highlights…

EAGLE-EYED CHASE

Norway's iconic fjords are home to the white-tailed sea eagle, and high-speed cameras capture the birds soaring majestically with their 2.5m wingspan. 'This is one of my favourite species,' says Ferguson. 'Seeing the eagles swoop down to hunt fish is like watching a thrilling car chase from a film.'

PUP POWER

In the cold Baltic Sea, 1,000 grey seals have given birth to pups, who only have 18 days with their mothers before they're abandoned to survive on their own. 'The female seals have a strong maternal bond but it's short and sharp,' says Stone. 'The pups gorge on their mother's super-rich milk to build layers of blubber, but not all pups make it.'

INTO THE SPIDER-VERSE

The dramatic extremes of the Nordic territories reveal wolf spiders that survive by tiptoeing through volcanic hot springs to hunt their prey. 'The hot-spring spiders in Iceland live on the thread of life – they can boil or freeze, depending where they tread,' says Ferguson. 'It's spectacular filming.'

ROAMING REINDEER

The series includes footage of migrating moose, as well as following the indigenous Sámi people, who guide their reindeer herds in search of food. 'Growing up, I saw reindeer everywhere in the woods,' says Ferguson. 'I didn't know much about the reindeer herders, though, so learning about their way of life has been fascinating.'

Jay Blades gives Santa a magical makeover

NEW FACTUAL

The Repair Shop Christmas Special

Christmas Eve, 8pm, BBC1

The workshop opens its doors to bring cherished yuletide treasures back to life in The Repair Shop Christmas Special – and, as usual, things get emotional.

Even the experts are in tears by the end, as Jay Blades organises a treat of his own with a special Secret Santa.

Among the festive fixes are a pair of Father Christmas decorations that have seen better days. The paper Santas have been a centrepiece of Sheila and her family's seasonal get-togethers for over a century. But with the pieces badly faded and torn, can paper restorer Angelina Bakalarou make them look merry and bright again?

FROZEN FOOTSTEPS

The series also shows how scent glands in polar bears' feet help them to find a mate. 'It's all in the footsteps,' explains Stone. 'Males sniff out and follow the scent trail of female polar bears, but their advances aren't always welcome. The females make their admirers wait a few days – they're not pushovers!'

Christmas

'They belonged to my nan, then my mum and I'm going to pass them on to my daughter,' explains Sheila. 'I'm hoping to see them look more like they used to. They mean so much to us.'

Meanwhile, the team also make dreams come true for the owners of a rusty steel-pan drum, a faulty mechanical cake, and a broken wooden record player. Jo was given the console for Christmas by her 11-year-old son Ben in 2005, just days before he died from bone cancer.

'I thought I'd never celebrate Christmas again,' says Jo. 'But every time I look at the record player, I think of Ben – he loved music and I have beautiful memories, even those intertwined with sadness.'

The turntable no longer rotates, but expert Mark Stuckey is quickly on the case, and Jo's thrilled when she finally sees it beautifully restored.

'On Christmas Day, we're going to have the family round and we'll be dancing to it,' she says. 'I know Ben will be with me. It's just perfect.'

Genre: Thriller Season: 1 Episodes: 8

Shortly after the funeral of her murdered husband, ex-Army captain Maya Stern thinks she sees him on a hidden nanny cam – but is her grief-stricken mind playing tricks on her?

The answers can be found in Netflix's eight-part adaptation of Harlan Coben's twist-laden novel Fool Me Once, starring Michelle Keegan as Maya and Richard Armitage (previously seen in Coben's Netflix series The Stranger and Stay Close) as her husband Joe.

Joe was killed when he and Maya were mugged – with Joe being shot dead. But detective Sami Kierce (Sherwood's Adeel Akhtar) isn't convinced that things are quite what they seem. He also believes that when Maya saw Joe on the nanny cam, she was suffering a delusion brought on by her bereavement over losing both Joe and her sister Claire, who was murdered a few months before.

But was the sighting really a figment of Maya's imagination?

SHOCKING DEVELOPMENT

Another pressure for Maya is her snobbish mother-in-law Judith (Dame Joanna Lumley), who never felt that Maya was good enough for her son. A renowned psychologist, she is dismissive of Maya when she says she saw Joe and urges her to get counselling.

Meanwhile, Sami is determined to get to the truth, and when ballistics are run on the bullets recovered from Joe's body, the investigation takes a shocking turn. The gun that killed Joe was the same one used to kill Maya's sister…

Passage to India

James May visits one of the world's most colourful countries

prime video James May: Our Man in India

NEW Available: Friday 5 January
Genre: Travelogue Season: 1 Eps: 3

Having explored Japan and Italy for his Our Man in… strand, seasoned traveller and The Grand Tour star James May is embarking on a 3,000-mile coast-to-coast journey across India for his latest adventure. Alongside local comedian Aditi Mittal, he's heading from Mumbai to the Bay of Bengal, trying his hand at everything from cricket to acting along the way.

Here, May, 60, tells us all about his journey…

What were the highlights of your trip? I loved visiting the holy city of Varanasi and getting out into tiger territory. It's fascinating, but in the past there was a fairly gruesome toll of villagers lost to tiger attacks.

What surprised you about India? I've been to India quite a few times and it has a reputation for being chaotic and a difficult place to get things done but that's a bit of a myth. The people were extremely helpful and everything moves quite smoothly, from parking the car to our lunchtime biryani arriving. You can't apply Western sensibilities to Indian life. It's very different.

In the series, you say India feels like it's trying to beat you up. What do you mean? Well, there's a small risk of being run over by a rickshaw if you don't cross the road carefully, but it's more an overall sense that it's just so intense. It's as if the day-to-day business of living is somehow more exhausting, but you quickly get used to it.

Did you enjoy being cast in an Indian soap opera? It was nerve-racking because we thought they would give me a very innocuous cameo, but they gave me a serious part. It turned into a bit of a responsibility, so I had to take it seriously. I'm not an actor, so it made good telly because I kept cocking it up.

Howzat! May gets sporty

Did you enjoy celebrating Holi, the festival of colours, when people are covered in bright paints? It's great fun. What amazed me is there are also bonfires filled with explosive crackers, right next to wooden buildings. I don't understand how they haven't burnt the place down.

Did you get recognised in India? Yes. I won't pretend I had crowds of people saying, 'Look, it's James May with his rubbish hair.' But one or two people did come up and say, 'Hi.'

Paramount+ The Castaways

NEW Available: Boxing Day Genre: Drama Season: 1 Episodes: 5

Sheridan Smith must fight for her life when an island-hopping holiday takes a horrifying turn in tense new drama series The Castaways.

Smith teams up with Céline Buckens to play sisters Lori and Erin, who've booked the trip of a lifetime around the Pacific. But following a bust-up, Lori boards a flight to the next tropical resort alone. But the plane never arrives at its destination.

Months later, with no wreckage located, Erin discovers Lori's credit card has been used. Looking for answers, she boards a flight back to Fiji, unaware that Lori is stranded on a desert island along with other passengers from the ill-fated flight.

'Once on the desert island, the paranoia sets in,' reveals Smith, 42. 'There are twists and turns and it all becomes a bit Lord of the Flies!'

The drama jumps between the past and present as we learn what led Lori to board the flight without her sister and the terrible events that followed.

For Smith, the most challenging parts of the shoot were the underwater scenes.

'I've always had a phobia of water, so I couldn't go underwater without holding my nose – but I had swimming lessons with our stunt team and got a lot braver,' she says.

'I liked that The Castaways is about two sisters going on their own journeys, growing as women and turning into warriors.'

Thursday 4 January, on demand, Netflix

PREMIERE The 1972 story of the Uruguayan rugby players whose plane crashes in the Andes has been filmed before, but director JA Bayona brings a soulful, shattering punch to the tale. The crash itself is brutally immersive, then the real hell starts as the survivors (including Enzo Vogrincic and Agustín Pardella), face starvation, avalanches and worse as the weeks stretch out. When the living are forced to consume the deceased, the moral anguish stings. The rousing conclusion is a given, but this is a haunting, harrowing hymn for the lost. ★★★★

PREMIERE Aaron Pierre's government operative arrives at the Midwest farmhouse home of Saoirse Ronan and Paul Mescal. It's 2065, and Mescal has been selected (or conscripted) to try out for off-world habitation. The planet is dying, and humanity is looking for a way out. This three-hander, adapted from his novel by Iain Reid and director Garth Davis, is at heart a relationship portrait. It is oddly paced, but the twisty third act pulls it together for a cunning, provocative, powerfully acted drama you'll want to puzzle over. ★★★★

Fri 5 Jan, 12.30pm & 8pm, Sky Premiere

PREMIERE 'No one starts at the finish line!' growls Dominic Toretto (Vin Diesel) at son Brian (Leo Abelo Perry) in this latest outing, with director Louis Leterrier bringing a welcome injection of energy and inventiveness. 2011's Fast Five provides the spark, as it returns to that film's Rio safe heist to reveal the unknown role played by one Dante Reyes (Jason Momoa). Seems Dom robbed Dante's dad and he's wanted vengeance ever since… *X*hilarating, super-charged fun. ★★★★

PREMIERE It's 1979, and a group of friends have retreated to a farm in Texas to made a porn film. The old couple who own it don't know about it, but when they do, bloody carnage ensues. Ti West's retro horror nods to the likes of The Texas Chain Saw Massacre, while also having its own devilish spin. The more than game cast is headed by a wonderfully off-kilter Mia Goth (as both one of the party and the older woman). ★★★★

GAMES for all the family!

We've got Christmas wrapped up

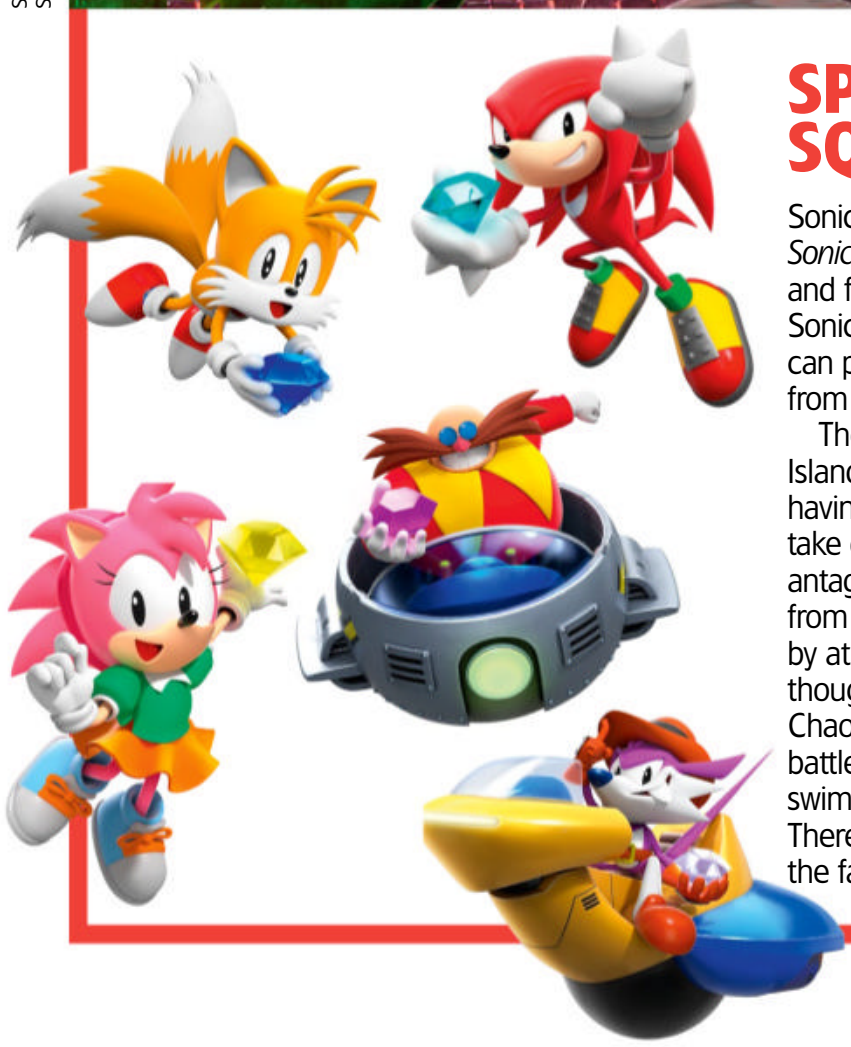
What would the festive season be without playing lots of games with your family? It's a great way to spend quality time together when the weather outside is less than inviting. We all love the old favourites – charades, board games and cards – but this year, try something fresh and exciting to get the party started!

PERFECT FOR GIFTING

Two new video games from Sega are guaranteed to keep your whole family entertained. The first is the latest action-packed video game featuring classic character Sonic the Hedgehog, Sonic Superstars. Adults will love the 1990s nostalgia while children are sure to enjoy the super-speed racing. Even better, it makes an ideal gift under the Christmas tree for both kids and big kids.

SHAKE IT UP

For activity of a different kind, the latest addition to the Samba de Amigo series for Nintendo Switch is here to spice up your festive celebrations. Samba de Amigo: Party Central has a playlist of 40 pop hits that'll get the whole family strutting their stuff – perfect for those who love to sing and dance. Plus, there are mini-games and challenges, unique costumes and accessories to unlock so everyone can customise their own character, and an online eight-player World Party mode where you can hit the dance floor, and show everyone your moves.



SPEEDY SQUAD

Sonic the Hedgehog is back with a bang. Sonic Superstars features a brand-new storyline and four of the series' much-loved characters – Sonic, Knuckles, Tails and Amy Rose – so everyone can play at the same time without having to watch from the sidelines.

The story takes place on the mystical Northstar Islands, filled with giant animals, and perfect for having thrilling adventures. Sonic and his friends take on arch-nemesis Dr. Eggman and old antagonist Fang as a team to save the animals from being turned into Badniks, all while whizzing by at exhilarating speed. It's not just racing along, though. Players can also use the power of seven Chaos Emeralds to unlock different abilities to battle Sonic's enemies, including multiplying, swimming up waterfalls, changing form, and more. There are special stages and new levels, too, so the fast, festive fun never stops!

Both games are out now and available to order. Find out more at sonicsuperstars.com and sambadeamigo.sega.com

FANTASY ADVENTURE

A Boy Called Christmas

8.10am, Sky Christmas ★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

This sparkly Santa origin yarn is really good fun. The boy in question is Nikolas (Henry Lawfull), a brave, resourceful lad who goes on a wintry adventure in search of his father (Michiel Huisman) and finds a magical world of elves, reindeer and even a talking mouse named Miika (voiced by Stephen Merchant). With his old man missing after he sets out to find the fabled village of Elfhelm, Nikolas has much to contend with, from his wicked aunt (Kristen Wiig) to a very angry elf (Sally Hawkins), as well as the dawning realisation that the parent he looked up to is more flawed than he first appeared. Director Gil Kenan keeps things tinsel-sparkly, while able support from Toby Jones, Maggie Smith and others lends gravitas. Adapted by Kenan and Ol Parker from Matt Haig's children's book, this delivers the heartening sight of a festive tale that feels rather original. 2021, PG, 106MIN

A heart-warming piece of Hollywood fantasy that won Edmund Gwenn an Oscar for his performance as a lovable old department store Santa Claus who is all too convincing in the role. The child whose suspicious nature he has to conquer is played by an eight-year-old Natalie Wood, Thelma Ritter makes her screen debut as one of the mothers visiting the store, while Maureen O'Hara, as the store supervisor, perfectly complements Gwenn's eye-catching performance. 1947, U, 93MIN

Full marks if, off the top of your head, you can name all 12 of the veteran screen tough guys that make up the ragtag band of assassins in this cynical World War Two adventure from director Robert Aldrich. The dozen are, of course, all hardened criminals given the chance of amnesty if they agree to a virtual suicide mission behind enemy lines. Considered pretty strong stuff when first released in cinemas at the end of the 1960s, the film looks pretty tame these days. 1967, 15, 150MIN

Eddie Redmayne's bashful hero Newt Scamander is back for the second episode of the series spun from JK Rowling's Potterverse. Here, Newt and his allies (including Jude Law's Dumbledore) are drawn deeper into the gathering storm brought about by dark wizard Grindelwald (Johnny Depp). The top-notch visuals and inventive effects, plus a message of tolerance, make for a magic yarn. 2018, 12, 134MIN

MUSICAL

Jesus Christ Superstar

10.15am, BBC2 ★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Although it has its share of moments of cheesy 1970s excess – such as the camp scenes in King Herod's harem and the glittertastic presentation of the title song – this is a lively and highly imaginative adaptation of the Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Webber musical. Filmed on location in the Holy Land, it is framed as a show-within-a show, with the actors all arriving and departing by bus in the desert, and taking full advantage of the stunning landscape and ancient ruins. 1973, PG, 107MIN

THRILLER

The Big Sleep

1.05pm, BBC2 ★★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

There is a story that director Howard Hawks had to ring up author Raymond Chandler midway through filming this adaptation of his crime novel because he couldn't figure out whodunnit. The story is certainly labyrinthine, with detective Philip Marlowe (Humphrey Bogart) finding himself up to his neck in narcotics, pornography and corpses. Even if the finer points of the mystery float over your head, just sit back and enjoy the film for the performances and the atmosphere. 1946, PG, 114MIN

FANTASY DRAMA

It's a Wonderful Life

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

James Stewart is at his best as the man asked by an angel to reflect on his life when he contemplates suicide. But it is in the amazing depth of character and incident, all immaculately conceived and executed, that the film scores most heavily. Director Frank Capra's yuletide fantasy was a box-office flop when first released in 1946 – for a heart-warmer, the film has some surprisingly bleak moments – but it now lays claim to being one of the best loved movies of all time. 1946, U, 125MIN

Once Upon a Time in... Hollywood

10.50pm, Film4 ★★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Quentin Tarantino gives us his juicy take on Hollywood in 1969 and on the cusp of change with this sprawling tale starring Leonardo DiCaprio as fading TV Western star Rick Dalton, Brad Pitt as his long-time stunt double and best friend Cliff Booth, and Margot Robbie as his famous next-door neighbour Sharon Tate. Shot with Tarantino's customary wit and freewheeling flair, the film interweaves their stories as it surveys the advent of hippies and the changing of the guard in Hollywood. The dark shadow of the Manson Family hangs over the story, of course, but for the most part this is a leisurely meditation on friendship and the pitfalls and privileges of fame. A violent ending lies in store, but in Tarantino's audacious hands, it's not the one you expect. 2019, 18, 166MIN

A star-stuffed Christmas turkey that proved to be a golden goose at the box-office when it became the top money-making film of 1954. Its combination of Bing Crosby and Danny Kaye and an enchanting score by Irving Berlin proved irresistible despite a lacklustre story. The boys are a song-and-dance team who organise a Christmas benefit concert for their ex-army general (Dean Jagger), whose ski resort is going bankrupt due to a lack of snow. 1954, U, 120MIN

Big Fish

1.30pm, GREAT! movies ★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

For a film stuffed with witches and werewolves, man-eating trees and giant fish, director Tim Burton's ode to the power of the imagination is a curiously earthbound affair. The topsy-turvy tall tales of dying patriarch Edward Bloom (played by Albert Finney on his deathbed and by Ewan McGregor in his youth) are brought to life colourfully enough, but the film lacks genuine warmth and its uneven pacing means that it refuses to take flight. Billy Crudup plays Bloom's son. 2003, PG, 125MIN

Chiwetel Ejiofor kicks up a show-stopping performance in this enjoyable romp, playing a glamorous drag artist who joins forces with shoemaker Joel Edgerton to pioneer a new line in fetish footwear and save his family's ailing Northampton factory. Ejiofor never lets his character lapse into simple caricature and does all his own singing – just wait for These Boots Were Made for Walkin' and Yes, Sir, I Can Boogie! – even if the film walks a predictable path. 2005, 12, 107MIN

Mad Max: Fury Road

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Director George Miller spectacularly reboots his Mad Max series 30 years after Beyond Thunderdome. In a post-apocalyptic world, Tom Hardy slips ruggedly into Mel Gibson's battered black jacket as badass loner Max, who is drawn into feisty one-armed Charlize Theron's bid to save a warlord's harem. The film is essentially one long, absurdly thrilling chase, done with a minimum of CGI, but what makes it so deeply enjoyable is the fascinating mythology and offbeat details. 2015, 15, 120MIN

This yuletide comedy is a laugh-out-loud, sweet-natured winner. Will Ferrell stars as a human raised by elves in the North Pole, but now he's outgrown his home so heads to New York to find his crusty real dad (a delightfully sour James Caan). An expert at this kind of farce, Ferrell wears his green suit with aplomb and shows just the right amount of child-like wonder when he hits the Big Apple. Bob Newhart is Papa Elf, Ed Asner is Santa and Zooey Deschanel is Elf's new sweetheart. 2003, PG, 97MIN

Conjuring up the tongue-in-cheek malevolence of Gremlins, this horror comedy unleashes a cloven-hoofed monster – a dark version of Santa Claus derived from Alpine folklore – and his evil minions upon a squabbling American family after a disgruntled 12-year-old boy rips up his letter to Santa on Christmas Eve. Toni Collette and Adam Scott do sterling stuff as the beleaguered parents, but the film belongs to the splendidly realised monsters. 2015, 15, 94MIN

This movie adaptation of the Broadway musical based on John Waters' cult 1988 comedy is a delight, thanks to a bouncy set of songs and a terrific ensemble cast. ROMANTIC FANTASY

Cinderella

11.15am, BBC1 ★★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Kenneth Branagh plays it straight, directing this live-action adaptation of Cinderella. All the fondly familiar elements you remember from Charles Perrault's 18th-century tale and Disney's 1950 animated version are in place – including the magically transformed pumpkin and mice. But a deft wave of Branagh's directorial wand ensures they look fresh. Lily James sparkles as Cinderella, Cate Blanchett is magnificently haughty as her cruel stepmother, and Sophie McShera and Holliday Grainger make a gleefully ghastly double act as the stepsisters. But James is far from limp when she first encounters the prince (Richard Madden), and her lively wit and beauty make her so alluring. Branagh's film has the human touch but doesn't stint on the magic and spectacle. 2014, U, 101MIN

PREMIERE Taking Gomez (voiced by Oscar Isaac), Morticia (Charlize Theron) and the rest of the ghoulish household on a continent-crossing road trip reaps scant rewards in this animated sequel. And while there are fleeting diversions at Niagara Falls and the Grand Canyon, a bewildering story involving genetic mutations will baffle the target audience as surely as the nods to Carrie and Jaws. Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

A sumptuous biopic of Mahatma Gandhi that won an Oscar for its director, Richard Attenborough, and star, Ben Kingsley, as well as turning the latter from a virtually unknown British stage actor into a screen superstar overnight. In truth, it helps to know a little about Gandhi's life and achievements before you start watching as the film covers such a broad spread of historical events that inevitably it has to gloss over some the finer points. 1982, PG, 188MIN

MURDER MYSTERY

Death on the Nile

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

The monuments of Ancient Egypt make a grand setting for this Agatha Christie whodunnit. Peter Ustinov's Hercule Poirot convinces, even if the death aboard a Nile cruise ship doesn't overtax the little grey cells. The film is long, but there are a number of individual performances to enjoy, notably those of Bette Davis and Maggie Smith. Antony Powell's gorgeous costumes rightly won an Oscar, and the main music theme by Nino Rota is excellent. 1978, PG, 134MIN

Originally conceived as a vehicle for Shirley Temple, MGM was forced to cast Judy Garland in the role of Dorothy in this lavish musical adaptation of L Frank Baum's classic fantasy novel when 20th Century Fox refused to release Temple from her contract to appear in the film. For its part, MGM had offered to 'loan' Clark Gable to Fox in return. While James Cameron's movie certainly delivers the goods in terms of spectacle – the sinking of the ship is truly awesome – it's less sure-footed, and a lot more long-winded, in its central story of the budding romance between two passengers on the doomed liner, poor Leonardo DiCaprio and rich Kate Winslet. 1997, 12, 195MIN

PREMIERE If you've ever wondered how plausible James Bond's Universal Exports cover story was, this is the film for you. This real-life espionage drama stars Benedict Cumberbatch as Greville Wynne, an ordinary businessman recruited to ferry messages to, and bring confidential documents from, Soviet traitor Oleg Penkovsky (Merab Ninidze). The storytelling is somewhat stolid, but it's a fascinating insight into the everyday jeopardy of the early-1960s Cold War. The biggest plus is a tailor-made role for Cumberbatch as an apparently model gentleman yearning for excitement. But it's when things inevitably take a turn for the worse that the star truly impresses, with a committed and startling physical transformation. Jessie Buckley, Angus Wright and Rachel Brosnahan are also part of the brew. 2020, 12, 112MIN

Eliciting affectionate smiles rather than guffaws, the Dad's Army remake pushes all the right nostalgia buttons – both for the sitcom's Brits-at-their-best wartime setting and its TV heyday. The cast, led by Toby Jones as Captain Mainwaring and Bill Nighy as Sergeant Wilson, could hardly be bettered. The plot, though, which finds the Home Guard platoon sent into a tizzy by the arrival of Catherine Zeta-Jones' glamorous reporter, creaks as much as Jones' delivery van. 2016, PG, 100MIN

This follow-up adventure with the prehistoric family is a fine example of a sequel improving on the original. It zippily reintroduces us to caveman Grug (voiced by Nicolas Cage), wife Ugga (Catherine Keener), teenage kids Thunk (Clark Duke) and Eep (Emma Stone) and Eep's boyfriend Guy (Ryan Reynolds). Director Joel Crawford keeps it fast-paced, with just the right amount of retro-strangeness, smartly treading the line between adult and child experiences. 2020, U, 96MIN

Set in 1984, the film is packed with the era's music, but with its distinctly old-fashioned feel, it harkens back in spirit to an even earlier time. 2013, PG, 96MIN

Terrified by the 1990 adaptation of The Witches? Good news: Robert Zemeckis' family-friendly Roald Dahl adaptation is more heart-warmer than seat-wetter. The story's transplanted to 1960s Alabama, where Octavia Spencer's wise granny cheers up her suddenly orphaned grandson Boy (Jahzir Bruno), and the fun starts when they head to a posh seaside hotel to escape a prowling local witch. There's CGI galore, but what really sets the tone to cartoonish rather than creepy is Anne Hathaway's vampy Grand High Witch. Unlike Anjelica Huston's haughty horror, Hathaway aims for hammy, jokey villainy and has a whale of a time. As Boy battles the witches' plan, the film shifts into Stuart Little territory, but the setting, full-throttle pace and message of resilience and responsibility give it enough heart to linger for a spell. 2020, PG, 106MIN

Star Christian Bale and writer-director Christopher Nolan turn their sequel to 2005's Batman Begins into a blockbuster of astonishing proficiency and, with full-on, explosive action, it barely pauses for breath as it builds to a scarily intense climax. Winning a posthumous Oscar, Heath Ledger provides most of the fun as the chillingly psychotic Joker, while Michael Caine, Aaron Eckhart, Gary Oldman and Maggie Gyllenhaal offer excellent support. 2008, 12, 152MIN

Throwing any sense of political correctness out of the window, the creators of South Park, Trey Parker and Matt Stone, have come up with a scandalously funny spoof of Hollywood action movies. Filmed using puppets, it follows a squad of over-armed commandos who, though supposedly the world's peacekeepers, invariably spread more chaos than the terrorists they are fighting. Bad taste has seldom been so much fun. 2004, 15, 98MIN

Director Stephen Merchant pins us to the mat with a big-hearted comedy about wrestling star Paige and her extraordinary grappling-mad Norwich family. Florence Pugh is a knockout as the self-doubting Paige, as are Nick Frost and Lena Headey as her parents. Dwayne 'The Rock' Johnson cameos as himself, adding another splash of larger-than-life colour to a rowdy tale of scrappy underdog triumph. 2018, 12, 104MIN

It's ironic that for an author best known for horror, two of the finest adaptations of Stephen King's work – this coming-of-age tale and the prison drama The Shawshank Redemption – feature no supernatural elements whatsoever. Director Rob Reiner should also be praised for eliciting such heartfelt performances from his young actors (Wil Wheaton, Corey Feldman, Jerry O'Connell and an outstanding River Phoenix) as 12-year-old friends who set out to find the body of a missing boy. 1986, 15, 89MIN

Adapted from the Icelandic tale that also inspired Hamlet, Robert Eggers' adventure stars Alexander Skarsgård as a prince bent on avenging the murder of his father (Ethan Hawke), killed by his half-brother (Claes Bang) who claimed the throne and queen (Nicole Kidman) for himself. For a seemingly straightforward revenge tale, this film also examines the cost of revenge and the nature of its hero's journey. It's impressive, relentlessly entertaining and a cinematic rarity to be savoured. 2022, 15, 137MIN

Robert Redford was the original choice to star in this screen adaptation of Charles Webb's satirical novel – but then Doris Day was originally slated to play Mrs Robinson until her husband objected. Now it's impossible to imagine anyone other than Dustin Hoffman and Anne Bancroft in the roles, even though it is amusing to discover that 'older woman' Bancroft is actually only six years older than Hoffman. Nevertheless the film continues to set the benchmark for any coming-of-age movie. 1967, 15, 105MIN

Alfred Hitchcock's version of John Buchan's classic chase thriller is still by far the best. Hitch whips up excitement and suspense, with the help of witty performances by Robert Donat and Madeleine Carroll. Donat cuts a dash as Richard Hannay, an innocent man on the run from cops and spies after a stabbed woman dies in his arms. Godfrey Tearle's missing-fingered villain, Donat having to make a political speech and the big music hall climax are all choice ingredients. 1935, U, 87MIN

Together on screen for the first time, national treasures Helen Mirren and Ian McKellen spar beautifully in a twisty thriller about a career con artist who sets his sights on a wealthy widow. Based on Nicholas Searle's novel, this mystery takes us through a series of sinuous plot twists, and then springs yet more surprises. But its most enjoyable feature is the spectacle of Mirren and McKellen going toe to toe. 2019, 15, 109MIN

Stanley Kubrick's vitriolic World War One drama is one of the true classics of anti-war cinema. Kirk Douglas delivers one of the finest performances of his career as the French officer trying to defend three soldiers during their court-martial, fully aware that they are being made the scapegoats for a botched attack against a German fortification. Although the war scenes are vivid depictions of the gruelling nature of trench warfare, it's the callous trial sequences that really give the film its power. 1957, PG, 86MIN

This breezy charmer set in and around the Eternal City is one of the films which created the template for just about every modern-day romantic comedy, although few are ever likely to achieve its timelessness. Audrey Hepburn won an Oscar for her adorable performance as a European princess who runs away from a royal tour, straight into the sturdy arms of dashing newshound Gregory Peck. Margot Robbie's psychopathic kook Harley Quinn is the best thing by far about this darkly comic subversion of more earnest superhero fantasies. The baseball bat-wielding Quinn is a member of the eponymous Suicide Squad, a group of incarcerated villains – including Will Smith's unstoppable assassin Deadshot and Jai Courtney's Aussie thief Captain Boomerang – sprung from custody to battle even deadlier foes, including Jared Leto's scene-stealing Joker. 2016, 15, 123MIN

A bunch of misfit teens – including Jaeden Lieberher, Jeremy Ray Taylor, Jack Dylan Grazer, Sophia Lillis and Finn Wolfhard – attempt to defeat the diabolical killer clown Pennywise (Bill Skarsgård) who has been snatching children in their small New England town. Based on Stephen King's novel and shifting the action from the 1950s to the 1980s, this superior chiller is better at the tale's teen-bonding sequences than its scary ones, but Skarsgård is delightfully creepy. 2017, 15, 135MIN

The brittle acting style of Nicole Kidman is perfectly suited to this period ghost story. Director Alejandro Amenábar piles on the mordant atmosphere and conjures up some effective scares. 2001, 12, 104MIN

Premier League football

Prime Video commentator Jon Champion previews the festive fixtures and hands out his mid-season awards

LIVE FOOTBALL

Sat 23 Dec, Christmas Eve, Boxing Day-Thu 28 Dec & Sat 30 Dec-Tue 2 Jan, Prime Video, Sky Sports & TNT Sports

There's a feast of Premier League football over the festive period, with 18 live games – including a Christmas Eve clash between Wolves and Chelsea (see page 51).

Among the highlights is a full round of matches live on Prime Video, including Manchester United versus Aston Villa on Boxing Day (k-o 8pm) and Arsenal against West Ham United on Thursday 28 December (k-o 8.15pm), with Jon Champion commentating on both matches.

'I'm looking forward to the Emirates,' says Champion. 'From being one of the more reserved crowds, Arsenal's supporters now make every home game an occasion. There's a real connection between the fans and the players, and, of course, it helps that the Gunners have such a talented team.'

Despite the prospect of some wintry weather in the commentary box, Champion says nothing in the UK will compare to an evening he once endured in Russia.

'I was in Moscow for a European game,' he recalls. 'It was freezing and when, at the end of the game, I got up from my seat in the commentary box, my trousers refused to come with me – they'd frozen to the concrete bench. I was left with a gaping hole where the seat of my pants should have been!'

As the Premier League nears the halfway point, we asked Champion to reveal his mid-season award-winners…

BEST GOAL

'Manchester United's Alejandro Garnacho takes the honours here. The Argentina winger silenced the Everton faithful with his stunning bicycle kick in United's 3-0 win at Goodison Park in November. Wow!'

Alejandro Garnacho

BEST PLAYER

'Manchester City's Bernardo Silva is a footballing wizard. Pep Guardiola will be delighted at the way the Portuguese midfielder has stepped up to thrive in the ongoing absence of injured Kevin De Bruyne.'

LIVE HORSE RACING

Boxing Day, race starts 2.30pm, ITV1

The world-famous Boxing Day steeplechase is the centrepiece of Kempton Park's two-day Christmas Festival, which also includes races on 27 December. Last year, jockey Harry Cobden and Bravemansgame provided trainer Paul Nicholls with a record-extending 13th victory in the three-mile race, and the eight-year-old is among the favourites once again.

THE MAIN EVENT

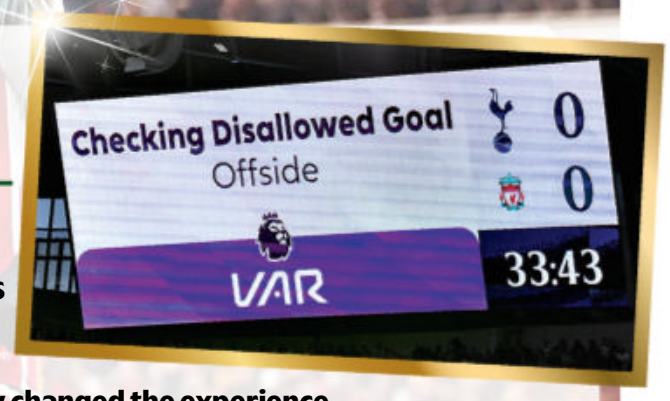
BEST TEAM

'This award goes to Liverpool. Jürgen Klopp's side appear rejuvenated and are always a good watch. I love how their midfield has been entirely reinvented. They play without fear and they certainly give the opposition a chance – that's half the fun.'

Dominik Szoboszlai and Trent Alexander-Arnold

BIGGEST CONTROVERSY



'Just file this one under VAR. You could pick any weekend of the season but I'll go for the shambles that was Tottenham versus Liverpool. VAR is getting worse rather than better and has utterly changed the experience of watching a game. Football is designed to be spontaneous, off-the-cuff entertainment, not a lengthy session of video analysis. Don't get me started!'

BEST COACH

'It has to be Ange Postecoglou. What a breath of fresh air the Australian has been since arriving at Tottenham in the summer. He's someone who doesn't try to overcomplicate the game, talks common sense and understands what Spurs fans expect.'

Ange Postecoglou and Spurs star Son Heung-min
